In years now gone by, there lived in a beautiful cottage surrounded by the native forest, in the county of Christian, a model family. The husband and father, Mr. Candida. samily. The husband and father, Mr. Can-sler, was a pattern of honesty. The wife and mother, was tidy, prudent, and affec-tionate. Every thing prospered under their supervision, and nature seemed to smile around that humble cottage. If unmixed happiness ever existed this side the Para-dise of God, it was in that family. Years flew swiftly by; beautiful daughters and patriotic sons sorang up in the family, and patriotic sons sprang up in the family, and that humble cottage seemed almost an "Eden on the stormy banks of earth," and oh! how well do I remember the many acts of kindness I have received from the inhabitants thereof. But in the midst of all this earthly felicity this areas to be a support of the story of the sto earthly felicity, this pure peace of soul, a dark cloud lowers over the cottage, and death claims the husband and father—in the family grave yard near by, a neat mar-ble stone points to the spot where sleep the mortal remains of this model man: and o'er his resting place, bright flowers spring up, moistened by the tears of affection and seemed again to take up its abode in that lovely cottage. But this apparent happiness was destined to be only temporary. The late wicked rebellion found two children in the family who level over the f dren in the family who loved each other, as brothers and sisters only love, who are properly trained up. The senior, a son of seventeen years—the junior, a beautiful and accomplished daughter who had scarcely seen fifteen summers, upon whom nature seemed to have bestowed lavishly all the seemed to have bestowed lavishly all the charms that adorn and beautify the female sex; we need not add that the brother loved Luceny, for that was his sister's name, with a tenderness akin to divine; to that conclusion the reader would natturally arrive in view of her beauty and goodness of heart. But a government under which the brother had grown up was threatened, and his burning patriotism induced him to become a soldier for a term of three years, to aid in perpetuating a government he loved. Bidding adieu to home and kindred, he shouldered his gun, and after imprinting a kiss on his sister's cheek, the dred, he shouldered his gun, and after imprinting a kiss on his sister's cheek, the cottage where he was born faded from his sight. Nor were his idols at home ashamed of his conduct as a seldier; upon the bloody fields of Donelson, Shiloh, Missionary Ridge, Chickamauga, &c., he bore aloft that proud old banner under which he enlisted. But why single out one soldier of the 17th Kentucky to speak of his deeds of daring? It is because the one mentioned is connected with the sketch we are writingfor without an exception the 17th Kentucky for without an exception the 17th Kentucky was composed of as brave a set of boys as ever drew a blade—and history will accord to them the highest meed of praise. Long may they live to enjoy the freedom they have so galiantly contributed to give the country.

But to return. The soldier boy won the distinction of a hero—and Luceuy, though pained to think her brother might fall in a pained to think her brother might fall in a

Is that form, so erect and beautiful, to be a mangled, bleeding corpse upon a field of blood and strife? or become emaciated and poor upon a dy-ing bed, in a land of strangers? Her friends strove to comfort her poor bleed-ing heart, by the assurance that there was happiness yet in store for her; that her absent brother would return home to greet again his idol sister. But alas! it was of no avail, and her friends gave up all hope of her living to see her brother return She, too, became satisfied that the curtain of death was soon gently to close around her, and the only thought that disturbed her in view of her fate was, that she would her to the control of the contr never meet her brother again this side of the great resurrection morn—but she prayed fervently that it might be otherwise—and thank God her prayers were answered. Her brother hearing of her critical condi-tion, after an honorable discharge at the expiration of three years' service, hastened home with all possible speed, reaching home about the noon of night, her spirit still lingered in its clay tenement. Unob-served by the friends who were watching beside her, he approached her bedside. "Does Luceny yet live," were the first words he spoke beneath the old cottage roof words he spoke beneath the old cottage roof

Poor Luceny, farewell! Thy winning voice will be heard no more on earth. A mother's care, a sister's smile, nor a brother's love will greet thee again in time; but above the stars that bedeck the vault of Heaven, thy spirit is at rest, in the society of your father who preceded you to that bright home above; and, in God's own good time, the friends who now mourn your loss will fol-low you, and with "no wanderer lost" you will be a family in Heaven. If the Lord saw fit to place you in a posi-

If the Lord saw fit to place you in a position most obscure, or to assign to you a service the most menial, not calculated to catch the eye or win the applause, but rather the oversight and the slight of your fellows, it would be one of the sweetest tests of the reality of your love to him. When Morrison, the Chinese missionary, the man of God who first gave the Bible to China in its vernacular, offered himself to the directors of the London Missionary Society as a missionary to the heathen, his appearance tors of the London Missionary Society as a missionary to the heathen, his appearance was so uncultivated and unpromising, that, hesitating to accept him as a candidate, they inquired if he was willing to go simply as an assistant in one of the missionary schools. "Gentlemen," was young Morrison's noble reply, "while the temple of Christ is building, I am willing to be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water." In a moment they decided that a man who so loved his Saviour, who was willing to undertake any service for Christ, was the fitloved his Saviour, who was willing to undertake any service for Christ, was the fittest for the higheroffice of a missionary to the heathen. They accepted him as such, and the result proved that they were not mistaken in their judgment. If you love Christ, you will be willing to undertake any service your Lord and Master may appoint you, Love will make drudgery for Jesus pleasant and welcome.—Octavius Winslow.

Babylon is Fallen!

Babylon is Fallen!

So, at last, Charleston is ours—plucked like the golden apple of the fable, that turned to ashes in the grasp. The great news is like wine to the pulse. The early telegrams were thought to be too good to be true. What a picture was that which the Tribune's correspondent presented to us on Tuesday morning, of the Old Flag hoisted once again over Sumter, even though waving from an oar-blade for lack of a flag-staff! The rebellion is humbled in the city of its first haughtiness. Beastful, braggart Charleston skulks away from itself, and Charleston skulks away from itself, and surrenders without firing a shot in its own defense! The only heroism of the retiring traitors was in exploding powder for the horrible burning of their own women, children, and old men. Having lately robbed dren, and old men. Having lately robbed both the cradle and the grave, they make a strange variety in their barbarous customs by now heaping the cradles into the graves. What a hideous sight saluted the bewildered eyes of the Union troops as they entered the city—weak and helpless human beings, scalded, burned, and mutilated by those who ought to have been their protectors: a city set on fire by its own garrison.

Years passed by, and time, the great comforter of the smitten and bleeding heart, assuaged the anguish of the widow and orphans, and happiness of the widow and orphans, and happiness to take up its abode in that. "But vengeance is mine, and I will repay," saith the Lord. No battle, and praiseworthy defeat! No stout defense and honorable capitulation! Nothing but the hanging of a hound's tail between his swift-running legs! O shame, where is thy blush? Was there any city in the South that specially boasted of its chivalry? That city was Charleston! Was there any that resolved to dig in its own fair streets, if necessary, the "last ditch?" That city was Charleston.

O fallen Babylon! O elegant city of splendid lies, rear now a monument to thy shame, and inscribe the obelisk with the wisdom of Solomon: "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall!" Now comes the question. Will it ever be worth while to rebuild Charleston? ever be worth while to rebuild Charleston? Is her name worth saving? Is her site worth a memory on the map? Is her sin less guilty than Sodom's, and should her punishment be less heavy than Gomorrah's? Nevertheless, out of her fiery ashes let a fair phenix arise! Let the treasonable city, humbled by war and purified by fire, make haste to cleanse and sweeten itself into a fit abode for Liberty and Peace! What are the signs of the times? The beginning of war saw Fort Sumter standing on a foundation of New England granite; the end of the war shall see South Carolina the end of the war shall see South Carolina standing on a foundation of New England ideas! Wherefore, let us prepare to sing the great anthem,

"Peace to the nation and praise to the Lord!" -[Independent.

The Draft -- An Illustration. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Feb. 8, 1865. His Excellency Gov. Smith:

Complaint is made to me, by Vermont, that the assignment of her quota for the draft on the present call is intrinsically un-just, and also in bad faith of the Government's promise to fairly allow credits for men previously furnished. To illustrate, a supposed case is stated, as follows:

Vermont and New Hampshire must, be-tween them, furnish 6,000 men on the pend-ing call, and, being equals, each must fur-nish as many as the other in the long run. But the Government finds that, on former calls, Vermont furnished a surplus of 500 and New Hampshire a surplus of 1,500—these two surpluses, making 2,000, are added to the 6,000 to be furnished by the two States, or 4,000 each, less by fair credits. Then subtract Vermont's surplus of 500 from her 4,000, leaves 3,500 as her quota on the pending call; and likewise subtract N. Hampshire's surplus of 1,500 from her 4,000, leaves 2,500 as her quota on the pending call. These 3,500 and 2,500 make precisely the 6,000 which the supposed case requires from the two States and it is just count from the two States; and it is just, equal, for Vermont to furnish 1,000 more now than New Hampshire, because New Hampshire has heretofore furnished a 1,000 more than Vermont, which equalizes the burthens of the two in the long run. And this result, so far from being bad faith to Vermont, is indispensable to keeping good faith with New Hampshire. By no other result can the 6,000 men be obtained from the two States, and, at the same time, deal justly nd keep faith with both; and we do bu onfuse ourselves in questioning the process y which the right result was reach

The supposed case is perfect, as an illustration. The pending call is not for 300,000 nen subject to fair credits, but is for 300,000 remaining after all fair credits have been deducted; and it is impossible to concede what Vermont asks without coming ou short of the 300,000 men, or making other localities pay for the partiality shown her.

partment, which we would gladly copy but for its length. It contains a meriled attrib-ute to the executive ability of the Quartermasters of our army, particularly those in the West, to whose energy so much of the successes of our army has been due. There are few, either in or out of the army, who realize how much of our military success is realize now much of our miniary success is due to our Quartermasters, upon whom is devolved the supply and movement of our forces. The writer of the article referred to, after mentioning the enormous difficulties of transportation overcome by the Quartermasters in supplying Sherman in his Atlanta campaign, asks. "Why should not hasters in supplying Sherman in his Atlanta campaign, asks, "Why should not brains have its just and fitting reward as well as bravery?" Both are alike essential to the success of our armies, and the one is always divine and rarest, while the other is—so to speak—a buil-dog quality, mostly common to all Americans, whether officer private."

"The various expeditions along the outhern coast and gulf, the side campaign a Western Virginia, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas, and the recent brilliant opera-tions of Sheridan in the valley of the Shen-andoah, all of which involved heavy labor and responsibility on the part of the quar-termasters, we must pass over entirely, as our paper has already swelled beyond the dimensions of one measurements. dimensions of one magazine article into real defects in the quartermaster's depart-ment, and some needed reforms, and es-pecially the new organization at depots of quartermaster's employes into a military department generally, we must not wholly omit, though they must all be reserved for a subsequent paper. We feel that our task is here wholly completed, if we have indicated somewhat the prodigious work and consequent real, not to say rore ability. consequent real, not to say rare, ability re-quired of the quartermaster's department, and so lead the reader to a better and kinder appreciation of its much abused officers. -[Nashville Union.

For those who dance, light stuffs, such as tulle, gauze, crane, crepe-lisse, etc., continue to be worn. Tulle puffings are the favorite trimmings for the skirts; these puffings are arranged lengthwise upon a gored skirt or stiff net; the puffings are separated by long sprays of flowers, glittering with dew drops, or by ornaments of velvet ribbon. With these skirts the Greek bodice is generally worn; the plain silk bodice is decorated with hollow plaits, wide at the top, and diminishing to a point at the waist; the bodice is cut very low in front, and the upper part is decorated with narrow puffings of tulle, and soft tulle ruches; above which there is a lower bornierte. there is a lace chemisette, fastened in front and at the back by a narrow black velvet ribbon. Other bail dressos have a long skirt, over which is worn a tunic; the lower upes being very much trimmed with either outlings or narrow flounces and flowers or ribbons; the tunic is pointed and long behind, and shortens gradually as it droops around the dress.

At the last bal intime at the palace the Empress was very simply attired in a robe of white tulle, with narrow flounces, and a tunic of the same material edged with all. tunic of the same material, edged with delicate green leaves; the front of the corsage and the sleeves were adorned with green foliage mingled with sprays of diamonds; the head dress being equally composed of light foliages. sed of light foliage and diamonds artist ically arranged and woven in the hair, which hung down at the back of the head

The by-gone year of 1864 was prolific in ecentric modes; so far the beginning of 1865 is destitute of any novelty; but the new year is very young, and has not yet num-bered enough days or weeks in which to deck itself out in original fashions, but still sports the cast-off garments of its predecess-or, and is still coiffed in the extraordinary ead gear, which is neither bonnet, nor cap, or turban, but the very ugliest and most and substance by the handiwork of the milliner. It is said that this queerest of all queer fashions originated by one of the reigning belles of the court ordering from the modiste a chapeau with neither front, nor curtain (ni passe, ni fond, ni bavolet.)

Prisoners Exchanged.

The New York Times says that under the idicious and energetic direction of Colonel Mulford, the exchange of prisoners goes on bravely. It publishes a list of the names of the five hundred officers who were reeived within our lines below City Point on the 21st and 22d ult., and since then forwarded to Annapolis. With this last installment, the Richmond military prisons have all-thank heaven!-been emptied of heir loyal inmates. We give below those from Kentucky, Tennessee, and Indiana regiments:

Col. Mulford has also perfected his arrangements for the delivery of those who have been in prison at Columbia, Salishave been in prison at Columbia, Salisbury, and a part of those at Florence. The place named for this exchange is Wilmington. The Georgia and Alabama prisoners are to be delivered at Mobile; those west of the Mississippi at the mouth of Red river. Col. Mulford, moreover, has not limited his exertions to the matter of an exchange of purely military prisoners. He has included in his arrangements the release of loyal masters and crews of vessels, and of not a few private citizens as well. The point at which Col. Mulford has established his office on the James river (Variona) places him in easy communication with the Lieutenant General, and the public need not be specially advised of the fact that General Grant extends the utmost facilities necessary to make the exchange as perfect and sary to make the exchange as perfect and as speedy as the circumstances will admit.

News of the Day.

Military Summary.

One of the most amusing evidences of the unparalleled leniency with which the namade is a terse commentary on our method of repressing rebellion.

Any immediate movement of Grant's army is rendered improbable by the rains and consequent condition of the roads. Since it is not at all likely that Lee will venture to attack Grant, we do not look for any decisive movement for some days.

The rebels offset our reports of deserters received by very general statements of "large numbers of Yankee deserters." Lee's army is latterly deserting to us at the rate of about fifty thousand a year.

General Hill is about to raise a brigade in northern Alabama. He will first have to get permission from General Thomas, and then find the men. Citizens thereabouts have become tolerably expert in navigation; and recruiting officers mostly have to make return "non comatibus in swampum."

The most pleasantly situated and comfortable portion of the rebel army is that known as trans-Mississippi. Its leaders are principally occupied in transporting cotton across the Rio Grande; and its men have abundance and to spare of clothing, food, and ammunition. It would not be the worst possible stroke of policy for Lee to march the remains of his "confederacy" into that region. If he could not maintain himself Max-Max would receive him with

We have captured from the rebels over thirteen hundred pieces of ordnance within two months. In the same time we have lost very few-less than forty. Our captures exceed those of Napoleon's Russian and Austrian campaigns. This is a bewildering statement, but not at all improbable. "There were giants in those days," but they didn't know how to fight.

It is reported that "Goldsboro and Kingsston must be held at all hazards." force of this phrase in rebel mouths is very nearly inappreciable—we mean very nearly appreciable. Lee is fortifying at these points. We will take odds that he gets danked out of them.

"Druid" does not exactly vouch for the truth of this reported plan; but the relish with which he gives its details, the eulogy of Gen. Lee he weaves into his statemen the manifest exhibition of a belief in its feasibility as well as justice and propriety, all show how much he wishes it were true and fraught with all promise of fulfilment.

Another invasion of the North and menace of Washington is doubtless one amongst the many schemes meditated by the perplexed and desperate junto at Richmond, in the extremity of their present needs and the gloom of their darkening prospects. They meditate upon it. But it cannot be possible that they seriously contemplate it. Hints that have a slight squinting in that direction appear in the Richmond papers. They are probably for home consumption, designed to palliate as far as may be the depressing effect of recent events in the impregnable areas of Dixie.

The truth is that the rebel leaders are tion is disposed to treat treason is found in the statement of the Richmond Dispatch that Singleton's errand is to arrange for the exchange of bacon for cotton. We look upon all such speculations as having a value which is the nearest possible approach to zero.

In the nature of things there are facts and data indispensible as a basis to any calculations forecasting military operations in Virginia, which cannot be obtained in newspaper offices a thousand miles away.

These data as to kind we may know something about. We may know, for instance, that there is discouragement and gloom in Lee's army. But how extensive is it? Nobody can affirm. It may have such an extent as to be the most formidable obstacle in the immediate path of Confederate prospects. We know there are dissensions amongst the rebel leaders. The indications in the rebel press are that these dissensions are very bitter. But how with amendments.

The Califo mia papers have assurances from northern Mexico that "the cause of the Mexican Empire is advancing as rapidly as can be reasonably expected." Maximilian's newly created field marshal, Gen. Bazaine, is about to merch north, accompanied by the inevitable G wynn. Mexico presents the curious anomaly of two opposing parties, each holding the other to be rebels and traitors. Of course we have no hositation in the matter; but we must first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first settle our own affair before we are a first set these and a multitude of other facts impossible to estimate quantitude of other facts impossible t widespread they are, how much below imperative problem before him. The same attracting general affording the same attracting constantly increasing desertions to our lines. And now just to the extent of this despondency as to a final triumph in the rebel army, will be the mischief it works upon that army as a unit. No doubt the rebel leaders will be sustained, many of them, by desperation, in the final crash of their schemes. It will be because death in any form it may assume on the field of battle, is more welcome to them than to survive the humiliation of their unbounded and malignant pride. But the private soldier has no such incentive. And although he may have centive. And although he may have AND WHOLESALE DEALERS IN enough enthusiasm for the cause to PRODUCE, PROVISIONS, BUTTER, CHEESE, EGGS impart to him no inconsiderable resoluiion and courage, he has not and cannot have such a degree of it as to be rendered thereby a desperate combatant. The cause in which the men composing a large and disciplined army, are fighting, is not the controlling theme of reflection with them personal prospects and the balance of con-

Hon. H. W. Grainger.

We have followed with deep interest the manly, patriotic course of our worthy Senator. He sought not the office, and only consented to be a candidate at the urgent and repeated request of warm personal friends, uncompromising Unionists.

Running against a gentleman, whose name was once a tower of strength, and in whose behalf so-called conservatives and disaffected nominal unionists and avowed secessionists labored indefatigably, Mr. Grainger was triumphantly elected. The large vote given most emphatically declared the people's confidence in him, and that confidence he has fully justified. By his assiduous attention to the duties of his office, by his steadfast and intelligent advocacy of the interests of his immediate constituents, and of the State, by his promptness and courtesy he has proved himself a wise and useful legislator, and by his votes on critical occasions, when great national interests were at stake, he has shown a clearness in the perception of vital principles and an independence in their application, that mark the large-minded, true-hearted patriot. His votes for Rousseau and for the Constitutional Amendment are appreciated and will be greatly remembered by lovers of liberty and Union.

Governor Bramlette.

[For the Union Press.] Governor Bramlette, just after the amendment's rejection, wrote to one of the President's strongest Louisville friends, that he Lee would do and would not do. Some of much regretted its rejection, that he tried to these speculations are attended with grave prevent it, and that he would honorably use all his influence for the election, in August, of pro-amendment men. SYMPTOMS.

The Symtoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Per sons find they have a cold, then they have frequent at tacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterward thick and adhesive

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are in reased in quantity and changed in quality; they are not hick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The se cretions are offonsive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is essened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another common and important symptom of Catarrhic that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morn ing of a thick or slimy muceus, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs and should lese no time in arresting it. The above are but few of the many Catarrhal symptom

ENLISTMENTS-SUBSCRIPTIONS,-The citizens of Louisville liable to draft are either profoundly indifferent whether there is a draft or not, or they are profoundly impressed with the notion that somehow or other it will not take place, whether they try to avoid it by filling the quota with volunteers or not. There is no question that a sufficient number of volunteers can be got to fill the quota if the money can be raised. the money necessary for that purpose. Unless the subscriptions are made more liberto secure these men.

ment, night before last. Ludwick has bearrested nine different times for desertion. him to get away.

GUERRILLAS ON THE NASHVILLE RAIL-ROAD-GLENDALE STATION BURNED,-A band of guerrillas numbering about twenty-five, burned the railroad building at Glendale station, about three miles below Elizabethtown, yesterday. It was a new building, and not quite finished. They also cut the telegraph wires. When the regular passenger train for this city arrived there, about 3 o'clock, the building was entirely destroyed and the guerrillas had left. There were three hundred soldiers on the train. The guerrillas did no other damage. They are supposed to belong to Magruder's gang.

23 Crime in Nashville has been fearfully on the increase lately. Scarcely a night passes that there is not one or more murders committed. The Union says the military authorities have taken steps to suppress the atrocious attacks on citizens at night by the assassins now infesting the city. It might not be prudent in us to mention the manner in which this desirable result is to be accomplished, but we feel at liberty to say that an effectual remedy has been found, and it will be applied at once.

THE NINIH NATIONAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK-Joseph U. Orvis, President-has been one of the most enterprising and successful agents for the various Government loans, Over fifty million dollars have been placed in the hands of the people through its agency within nine months, and it now advertises to furnish the 7-30 notes by express, free of charge, in all parts of the country. Its object is patriotic, and the high reputation of its officers, as well as its capital of a million dollars, is a sure guarantee that the 7-30s subscribed for through its agency will be promptly

AMNESTY OATH,-The amnesty oath was yesterday administered at the Provost Marshal's office to the following named persons, deserters from the rebel cause: Charles A. Hogan, co. A, Major Harrison's Battalion, of Hancock co., Ky.; A. E. Parish, Buckner's Guard, and Joshua South, co. C, 2d Ky. rebel cavalry, both of Jefferson county; and R. D. Porter, Surgeon 10th Ky. rebel cavalry, Trigg county, Ten-

GUERRILLAS.-Two guerrillas made their appearance at a store on the Preston street road, about two miles from the city, Thursday evening. They asked for liquor, and not getting it rode off again, firing several shots from their pistols as they left. The 11th Michigan cavalry was encamped but a short distance off. It was very bold in them to venture so near if they were aware of this fact.

DISBANDED,-An order has been issued from the War Department disbanding all bands at military posts. This includes the Post Band here. Our citizens will be sorry to learn this. We have come to regard this band as a permanent institution here. The members of it are ordered to report to their respective commands.

Peter Whorley, a drafted man, who has been at Taylor Barracks for some time past, has been pronounced by physicians hopelessly insane. He was yesterday reforwarded to their regiments. ceived at Barracks No. 1, with orders that he be held under guard until he can be sent to the Insane Asylum at Washington, D. C.

$300 BOUNTY OFFERED BY

THE CITY OF LOUISVILLE IN ADDITION TO THE UNITED STATES BOUNTY.

The City of Louisville will pay a bounty of $300 to each volunteer who may hereafter be enlisted in the United States military service when the certificate is presented showing that a credit has been given to the city of Louisville for the person enlisted or city of Louisville for the p mustered in as above.
feb16-tf Wm. Kaye, Mayor.

NOTICE. The Bonds of the city of Louisville, to the amount of $200,000, authorized to be issued to raise a Bounty Fund, will be ready for sale as soon as they can be printed and filled up, which will be in a few days.

The Bonds are for $1,000 each, with couons attached for semi-annual payment of terest; one hundred of the bonds being payable ten years after date, and the other payable ten years after date, and the other hundred payable twenty years after date. That the citizens of Kentucky, especially of Louisville, may have an opportunity of making an investment in the purchase of the bonds to such amount as they may wish, those who desire to purchase will please, at once, address the Mayor of the city, giving their name and residence, the number and character of the bonds proposed to be bought and the highest price posed to be bought and the highest price they are willing to pay therefor. This invitation for proposals is not, however, limited to citizens of Kentucky.

THE MINETRELS.-We advise all who have any taste for burnt cork performances to go and see Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels at the Masonic Temple. To-night will be their last here. They present a very varied performance, embracing comic acts, burlesques, songs, clog dances, etc. Gaylord is unapproachable in his delineations of negro character. The music is far superior to that generally heard in minstrel performances. A matinee performance will o'clock. Admission, twenty-five cents. There is an excellent brass band with the troupe.

LOUISVILLE THEATER .- To-night will be the last of the engagement of the Warren Comedy Combination, when the comedy of "Babes in the Woods" will be produced. Mr. Warren will appear as Mr. Jeremiah Beetle, Miss Orton as Lady Blanche Rushton, and Miss Mestayer as Mrs. Beetle. The laughable farce of "Nursery Chickweed" will conclude the performance, in which Mr. Warren and Miss Orton appear. The Comedy Combination appear in the matinee performance this afternoon, in the comedy of "Sweethearts and Wives" and in the farce of "Betsy Baker."

BARRACKS .- One hundred and thirty convalescents reported yesterday. Two hundred and sixty-three men were transferred to Nashville, 55 to Cairo, 6 to St. Louis, and 4 to Owensboro. Twenty-nine deserters were received from different points, to be sent to their different commands.

Colonel Eli H. Murray, now in this de partment, is directed to assume command of all the troops in the 2d Military District of Kentucky, with his headquarters at such point as he may select.

Major Wolfly, of the same regiment, now n this department, will report to Colonel Murray for duty. The Quartermaster and Commissary Departments will supply the troops under olonel Murray's command upon requisitions approved by him.

Colonel Murray will break up the cavalry posts in the part of Kentucky occupied by his troops, and establish such posts as he may judge necessary for the defense of the country, and for the supply of his mounted force, to be held by infantry; and will, with his cavalry, energetically pursue and destroy the guerrillas and robbers who infest the country.

From the Richmond Papers. WASHINGTON, March 3.—The following is from the Richmond Whig of March 1: The Express of yesterday states that the advance which was threatened two or three days since has been checked, if not defeated by the surperabundant rains, and for the present may possibly be abandoned, but the public need not be surprised to hear of the commencement of a battle at any mo The enemy has not withdrawn any of the forces he has moved to his left, but holds them in readiness for an advance at the earliest practicable moment. It is believed the enemy intend a flank movement some distance further down than the scene of his late operations. We believe our no-ble army is prepared to meet the enemy now, as it has been in every other battle of old, never having known and determined never to know a defeat.

divises putting negroes in the army as bioneers, wagoners, &c. The message excites universal approbation in Louisiana. A Tupelo letter gives the following: Gen. Forrest told a lady here a few days ago that he would be left alone to hold the bag in this section, and that it would be a pretty big bag. Many poor soldiers' families are suffering for bread.

Col. Patterson, commanding a brigade in Roddy's division, has been actively engaged in breaking up stills in Alabama along the Mississippi line. Many farmers in northeast Mississippi carry their grain across the line to be distifled.

The Plans and Movements of Dr. Gwyn. SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The Democrat of this city, which affects to be well informod concerning the plans and movements of Dr. Gwyn, denies emphatically, on the authority of his agents, that the Emperor Napaleon has withdrawn from the Sonora colonization scheme, as was intimated by Eastern dispatches. From sources of information which we dear reliable we have been formation which we deem reliable, we have abundant assurance there has been no change in the plans of the scheme recently while the cause of the Mexican Empire is advancing as rapidly as could be reasonably expected, When the steamer John S. Stevens left Mazatlan, there were several thousand French troops there. Advices had been received that Marshal Bazaine, with the main portion of his army, was on his way to Mazatlan, and might be expecta few days, accompanied by Dr.

Gwyn.
It is barely possible that Dr. G. did not sail for Europe at a later date than the news we have received from the City of Mexico direct; but, if such is the fact, his visit has no reference to change of plans, as it is not in contemplation to take possession of Archo, the future capital of the northern States, before the 1st of May. It is not intended to make States over which Dr. G.

The House then acted upon private bills. The bill to prevent the enlistment of persons charged with crime in the District of Columbia, as soldiers and substitutes, and to prevent frauds in the district jail in Washington, was passed.

It appears from the report accompanying the bill that seventy of the prisoners in jail were recently let out on bail and sold as substitutes.

Mr. Pendleton from the select committee ntroduced a resolution to admit members of the cabinet to seats on the floor so that they might furnish information concerning their respective departments.

He proceeded at length to reply to the objections which had been made to the bill. No good had been promoted by the dis-cussion. It had shown that the Executive power ought not to be increased, and his object was to restrain it. Consolidation was despotism. The proposition was con-stitutional, and if adopted would elevate the character of the Cabinet ministers, and this he proceeded to argue at length.

New York, March 3.—Significant and important hints, regarding affairs in North and South Carolina, are thrown out by yesterday's Richmond Examiner. It intimates that Sherman and Schofield have formed a junction near Goldsboro, in the former State, and says there is reason to former State, and says there is reason to fear that Hood, as well as Hardee, has been cut off from uniting with Johnston.

It was Hardee's force that held Charleston, and on evacuating it he marched northward as rapidly as possible, for the purpose of joining Beauregard, then at the head of the army now commanded by Johnston.

DEPARTURES

THE RIVER commenced rising again on Sherman Moving toward Raleigh. Thursday night, and up to yesterday morning it had risen three inches, and during the day, up to dark last evening, it had risen about three inches more, making a rise in the previous twenty-four hours of NEW YORK, March 3.—Significant and six inches. That at the present stage of there were forty-two feet seven inches water in the channel of the river. On the falls, however, there were less than ten feet water over all obstructions.

The two huge iron-clad monitors, the Cahawba and Oneita, from Cincinnati, came at 23c, and 160 co down yesterday under convoy of the Groes-beck, and descended the falls under the guidance of Capt. Varble. The monitors bore the appearance, in the river, at a dis-tance, of rafts. They were drawing about ches, no apprehensions need be entertained of an overflow. The rains which appear to streams will not do more than probably keep the river here at its present high stage. It is now a mighty river in volume and extent, with a channel depth for over 750 miles of its course, to float the heaviest vessel that ever sailed the sea.

The boats in port at Cincinnati Friday, were the Alice Dean, Kanawha, Justice, Cleona, Potomac, Beulah, Emma Floyd, Lady Gay, Miami, Caroline and Peytona.

The Peytona-and Lady Gay were loading at Cincinnati for New Orleans, and Cleona, Emma Floyd and Miami for Neshyille. Emma Floyd and Miami for Nashville.
Owing to increased tonnage, freights to Nashville from Cincinnati had fallen to $1.00 per hundred pounds.

The Cumberland rise continues at full tide, and at a stand on Thursday morning, with the arrival at Nashville of the Rose Hite, Glendale, Starlight, Rob Boy, and Ontario, and the departure of the Irene for Pennessee river and the Nora for this port.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE UNION PRESS.] U. S. 7-30 LOAN. FRIDAY EVENING, March 3, 1866.

There was nos much animation in the market to-day in any department of trade, the inclement weather adding its influence to check transactions, as it was raining most of the day, and the streets are excessively muddy. The money market is still tight and currency scarce, and likely to continue until the new National Banka just organized in the city are in the receipt of their currency, or rather notes of issue. They are expected, but we believe that none have been received. The banks continue to take all the good paper of their customers at the usual rates, and are buying Eastern exchange as 1-10 to ½ premium, and selling at 1-5 to ½, Gold in New York mium, and selling at 1-5 to ¼, Gold in New York to-day opened at 198¼, and at 11:15 A. CAMP LIBRARIES.

NEW YEAR'S GIFT

THE UNITED STATES CHRISTIAN COMMISSION, A in response to numerous and earnest appeals from urgeons, chaplains and field officers, will receive, forward, and place under the care of proper librarians, ONE PHOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED AND FORTY CAMP AND GUN-BOAT LIBRARIES of one hundred and fifty volumes each-if the friends of our soldiers and sailors will ferward them to its oranches, or to the Central Office, during the holidays. It is but a small matter for each purchaser of holiday gifts for friends at home, to buy a handsome and pleasant book or his friends in camp or hospital, write his name in it, and direct the bookseller to send it to the Commission. It will be a positive pleasure to hundreds of wives and mothers to take down the choicest volumes from their cokcases and send them thus where their loved ones can enjoy the pleasure and profit of perusing them. Send none out the best; our soldiers deserve the best. The standard esayists, histories, biography, travels, science, poetry, nagazines, standard works of fiction, whatever, in short, you would put into the chamber of your own brother, confined with a broken limb, will be acceptable, as well as religious works. Forward the parcel to J. E. HARDY, 25 West Main street, or to J. G. BARRETT. Treasurer Citizen's Bank, Louisville, Ky.
